

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Prologue .....	9
Prefatory note .....	13
Chapter 1 – WHAT IS ETHICS?
<hr/>
1.1	Why Bother with Ethics? ..... 15
1.2	Isn't Faith Enough? ..... 16
1.2.1	“Handmaiden” Philosophy in the House of Theology ..... 16
1.2.2	Philosophy as “Mistress” of Her Own House ..... 17
1.2.3	For Fruitful Collaboration ..... 19
1.3	Philosophical Method ..... 19
1.3.1	Basic Attitudes ..... 20
1.3.2	Beginning with Experience ..... 22
1.3.3	Awareness of Conditioning ..... 23
1.3.4	The Obvious and the Evidence ..... 24
1.3.5	Training and Culture ..... 25
1.4	Specific Characteristics of Philosophical Ethics ..... 28
1.4.1	Ethics Deals with Moral Experience ..... 28
1.4.2	Is Ethics Merely a Descriptive Science? ..... 29
1.4.2.1	Positivism and Weak Thinking ..... 30
1.4.2.2	Critique ..... 30
1.4.3	Ethics is a Normative-Categorical Science ..... 32
1.4.4	How to Proceed? ..... 33
Excursus 1	– Normative Ethics ..... 35
A	Technical Normativity ..... 35
B	Legal Normativity ..... 37
C	Moral Normativity ..... 37
<hr/>
Chapter 2 – THE PHENOMENOLOGY OF MORALITY
<hr/>
2.1	Moral Experiences ..... 39
2.1.1	Attempts at Denial ..... 40
2.1.2	Judging the Behavior of Others ..... 42
2.1.2.1	Scandal and Indignation ..... 42
2.1.2.2	Admiration ..... 43
2.1.3	Judging Our Own Behavior ..... 44
2.1.3.1	Remorse ..... 44
2.1.3.2	Gratification ..... 45
2.2	Essential Characteristics of Moral Experience ..... 46
2.2.1	Experiences that Concern the Will ..... 46
2.2.2	Experiences that Obligate the Will ..... 48
2.2.3	Duty, Freedom, and Responsibility ..... 49

■ TABLE OF CONTENTS

2.3	What is Good? .....	49
2.3.1	Desire .....	50
2.3.2	Value .....	51
2.3.3	The Good Life .....	53
2.4	The Moral Question .....	55
	Excursus 2 – First Person Ethics .....	59

Chapter 3 – VOLUNTARY BEHAVIOR

---

3.1	Conditions of Voluntary Behavior .....	63
3.1.1	Acts of Man and Human Acts .....	63
3.1.2	Phenomenology of Voluntary Action .....	65
3.2	Intelligence in the Human Act .....	66
3.3	The Will in the Human Act .....	68
3.3.1	Voluntary and Involuntary .....	68
3.3.2	Simple Voluntary and Relative Voluntary .....	69
3.3.3	Willed Voluntary and Tolerated Voluntary .....	70
3.4	Emotions and Feelings in Human Action .....	71
3.5	Freedom in Human Action .....	73
3.6	Human Action as Immanent Activity .....	75
3.6.1	Human Acts Modify the Personality of the Acting Subject .....	75
3.6.2	Habitus .....	76

Chapter 4 – THE VIRTUES IN GENERAL

---

4.1	Importance of the Virtues in Ethical Discourse .....	79
4.1.1	Acting Manifests Being .....	79
4.1.2	The Discourse on Virtues .....	80
4.2	Virtues and Vices .....	81
4.2.1	Good Habitus and Bad Habitus .....	81
4.2.2	The “Mean” .....	82
4.3	Classification of Virtues .....	84
4.3.1	Intellectual Virtues and Moral Virtues .....	84
4.3.2	The Cardinal Virtues .....	85
4.3.2.1	Reason, Will, and the Irascible and Concupiscible Appetites ..	86
4.3.2.2	Wisdom .....	86
4.3.2.3	Justice .....	87
4.3.2.4	Fortitude or Courage .....	88
4.3.2.5	Temperance .....	88
4.3.2.6	“Annexed” Virtues .....	89
4.3.3	The Connection between the Virtues and Love .....	90
4.4	Virtue, Freedom, and Happiness .....	91

Chapter 5 – WISDOM

---

5.1	Terminology .....	95
5.2	Primacy of Wisdom .....	96
5.3	The Operations of Wisdom .....	98
5.4	Wisdom’s Presuppositions and Their Opposites .....	99
5.4.1	Wisdom as a Cognitive Virtue .....	99
5.4.2	Wisdom as a Commanding Virtue .....	101

Chapter 6 – JUSTICE

6.1	The Concept of Justice .....	105
6.2	Rights .....	107
6.3	General and Particular Justice .....	108
6.4	The Parts of Justice .....	111
6.4.1	Commutative Justice .....	112
6.4.2	Distributive Justice .....	112
6.5	Injustice .....	114

Chapter 7 – FORTITUDE OR COURAGE

7.1	Terminology .....	117
7.1.1	Courage .....	117
7.1.2	Tenacity and Patience .....	118
7.1.3	Magnanimity .....	119
7.2	Cultural Aspects .....	119
7.3	Fortitude and Vulnerability .....	121
7.4	Aggression and Endurance .....	123

Chapter 8 – TEMPERANCE

8.1	Terminology .....	125
8.2	The Essence of Temperance .....	126
8.3	Virtue of Personal Integrity .....	128
Excursus 3 – An Historical-Philosophical Overview of Corporeity .....		129
A	Materialistic Monism .....	129
B	Spiritualistic Dualism .....	129
C	Ontologically Based Personalism .....	130
8.3.1	Division between Body and Person .....	132
8.3.2	A Unified Whole .....	133

Chapter 9 – THE FOUNDATION OF MORALITY

9.1	Objectivity or Subjectivity of the Good? .....	136
Excursus 4 – Contemporary Thought and Morality .....		137
A	Universal Thought .....	137
A.1	The “State of Nature” .....	137
A.2	Reason and the Passions .....	137
A.3	“Pure Duty” .....	138
A.4	The State .....	140
A.5	Utility and Consequences .....	141
B	Relativism(s) .....	141
B.1	Emotivism .....	142
B.2	Historicism, Sociologism, and Psychologism .....	143
B.3	Genesis, Evolution, and the Dissolution of Relativism .....	143
9.2	The True Good .....	147
9.2.1	Man’s “Humanity” as a Source .....	147
9.2.2	Natural Inclinations .....	148
9.2.3	Man’s Ultimate End .....	149

■ TABLE OF CONTENTS

9.2.3.1	Happiness and the Good	150
9.2.3.2	Perfect and Imperfect Happiness	150
9.3	The Basis of Human Rights	152
9.3.1	Nature and Reason	152
9.3.2	Human Rights and Their Order	153
9.4	Sources of Morality	153
9.4.1	The Objective Structure of an Act	154
9.4.2	Motive	155
9.4.3	The Circumstances	157

Chapter 10 – THE MORAL LAW

10.1	Attitudes Toward Law	159
10.2	The Essence of Moral Law	160
10.2.1	Law as an Order of Reason	161
10.2.2	Law is Ordered to the Common Good	161
10.2.3	Law Proceeds from the One Who Guides the Community	162
10.2.4	Law Must Be Promulgated	163
10.2.5	Effects of Law	163
10.3	The Natural Law	163
10.3.1	Precepts of the Natural Law	164
10.3.2	Universality and Immutability of the Natural Law	165
10.3.2.1	Unity and Mutability of Human Nature	166
10.3.2.2	Mutability of Some Precepts of the Natural Law	167
10.3.3	Relationship between Natural Law and Human Law	169
10.3.4	Natural Law and Eternal Law	170
10.4	The Law's Limits	171
10.4.1	Unjust Law	171
10.4.2	Exceptions to the Law	172
10.4.3	Epikeia (Equity)	173

Chapter 11 – CONSCIENCE

11.1	The Anthropological Value of the Moral Conscience	176
11.2	The Judgement of Conscience	177
11.2.1	Potential Conscience	177
11.2.1.1	Synderesis	178
11.2.1.2	Moral Knowledge	179
11.2.2	Actual Conscience	180
11.3	Types or Forms of Conscience	181
11.3.1	Types of Potential Conscience	181
11.3.2	Types of Actual Conscience	182
11.3.2.1	In Respect to the Act: Antecedent, Concomitant, and Consequent Conscience	182
11.3.2.2	In Respect to Moral Quality: Right or Negligent	183
11.3.2.3	In Respect to Subjective Certitude: Certain, Sufficient, Doubtful	183
11.3.2.4	In Respect to Objective Truth: True or Erroneous	184
11.4	Law, Virtue, and Conscience	184
	Epilogue	187
	Bibliography	189
	Index of Names	199